A failure or delay by a party to exercise any right or remedy provided in this Contract or by law shall not constitute a waiver of that or any other right or remedy, nor shall it prevent or restrict any further exercise of that or any other right or remedy. Annex 1 - IC Fortigate Support

Service Description

The IC Fortigate services are an ancillary support service provided by IC (IC Support) and are intended to complement and add additional value to the devices, equipment, products, support, services and software provided directly by Fortinet (Devices). The IC Support provide the ability for help and guidance on changes and configuration of the Customer's FortiGate product. It also provides secure offsite configuration backup and storage and reporting services to provide an end-point security for the firewall(s) being deployed. The IC Support is intended to reduce the need for Customer specifically trained engineers, to lighten the Customer's IT burden and to allow for IC's trained engineers to be on hand.

The IC Support is separate to the warranty, support and licencing provided by Fortinet and all Device faults (including returns and software faults) should be raised directly to Fortinet to avoid additional time delays. As part of the IC Support service, IC will be used as first line diagnostics and provide the information to assist in the diagnosis by Fortinet and IC can optionally raise the faults into Fortinet on behalf of the Customer by request.

A prerequisite requirement for the IC Support is that the Customer accepts Fortinet's end user licence agreement and maintains a valid support and software updates agreement in place directly with Fortinet for the devices being supported. The Customer must not use any Devices without such agreements being in place. The Customer shall indemnify, defend and hold IC harmless in respect of all loss, damages, costs and expenses howsoever incurred in relation to the Customer's use of the IC Support and comply with this paragraph.

Primary Service - Services Provided

When IC Support is purchased by the Customer from IC:

- initial configuration of the Devices will be performed at an IC location prior to shipment to the Customer to aid with plug and play deployment;
- access to IC engineers for the purpose of technical guidance and configuration assistance of Fortigate firewall products by way of IC Support
- the Customer shall be added to IC's central Fortimanagement platform which provides additional overlay services including:
- automatic configuration backup for rollback, hardware failure configuration restoration and disaster recovery purposes,
- alerting of failures or problems with the Devices linked to this Contract,
- monthly reporting to provide insights into the Firewall(s) performance and effectiveness,
- access to IC engineers for first line assistance in fault diagnosis. For instances where a Fault has occurred this shall be included as part of the IC Support;
- up to one (1) hour remote engineer support time per calendar month and during normal office hours is included in this package. This time is predominantly utilised supporting the various security upgrades throughout the year and can be used to provide assistance as may be required from time-to-time. If additional time is required, or support required outside normal office hours this is not included and is chargeable at £150 per hour or part thereof. In respect of timescales, IC will respond to the Customer's request on the same business day confirming a suitable time slot for the support from the IC remote engineer;
- when a major firmware update is released by Fortinet for its Devices, this is not automatically rolled out by IC, but it can be done by Customer request within the IC Support. If an SSL certificate is purchased by the Customer we can assist with the maintenance of this on the Devices;
- when Fortigate security updates are released, the Customer will be notified by IC to agree a time for the upgrade with the IC support team.

IC Fortinet Support - Specific

The IC Support under this Contract does not imply anything from IC other than a 'support' function and no warranties are either expressed or implied as to the effectiveness of the Devices.

In particular no warranty or liability is accepted for the security of the Devices as these are not within the control of IC. The Customer is ultimately responsible for the security of its network and acknowledges that the advice provided by IC is for guidance only and will be based on training and industry practice. Neither IC nor any of its employees are liable for the quality of advice and support provided as part of the IC Support. The Customer acknowledges that no security system is perfect security. The Customer also acknowledges that a Fortigate firewall is only a small element within a far wider scope that is network security and should be used in conjunction with other best practice industry solutions including endpoint security. The Fortinet firewall is not and should never be conceived as the only security requirements for a business. Specifically, separate attention should be given to network design, and end-point security. Where connections to the Internet are of an encrypted nature and additional practices and technologies or features will be required to help mitigate risks of a security breaches, such as the use of SSL certificates.

The Customer acknowledges and accepts that IC is dependent upon third party suppliers (including Fortinet and its UK distributors) for the manufacture and supply of the Devices. Accordingly, and notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Contract, IC's liability to the Customer arising out of or in connection with the Devices shall be limited to the sum total of payments received by IC from its suppliers.

The Customer further acknowledges and accepts that: (a) IC shall have the right, from time-to-time, to amend and/or augment the terms and conditions in this Contract to the extent its suppliers require certain terms and conditions be included in the contract for the Devices; (b) IC is not the manufacturer and the Devices sold or supplied under this Contract are subject to a warranty with Fortinet (if any); (c) it shall comply with all further obligations imposed by IC's third party supplier Fortinet and its UK distributors) that apply as a condition to the supply of the Devices and (d) to the extent that any amounts are payable by IC's suppliers to IC arising out of or in connection with the Devices, IC shall only be liable to the extent of the amounts so received from such suppliers.

Annex 2 - Service Level Agreement

In this Annex:

- "Clock Hours" means
 - o The start time is the acceptance of a fault and opening of a case on the IC or its nominated suppliers fault handling system;
 - o Clock will run 24/7;
 - o Stop time is when the fault is cleared;
 - o Allowable Parked time will be excluded from the gross elapsed time.
- "Allowable Parked Time" means the progression of the repair outside of the control of IC or IC's supplier and / or where there is an action caused by the Customer that directly causes IC to be unable to comply with its obligations. Parked time stops the SLA clock until the park time is cleared. Park time reason code is excluded from allowable parked time with the following exceptions:
 - i. Where the first available appointment is not chosen by the Customer, the time between the first available appointment and the appointment chosen will be counted as allowable parked time;
 - ii. "Parked time" the following is a list of parked time reasons;

The following parked time reason codes are included in the allowable parked time measure.

- o Appointment confirmed - the time between an appointment being made and the actual start of the appointment slot;
- o Awaiting appointment - the time IC is waiting for the Customer to agree an appointment date;
- o Awaiting retest - when IC have confirmed a clear and are waiting for the Customer to retest;
- o Confirm fault cleared - IC or their third parties have cleared the fault and are waiting for the Customer to confirm the clear
- o Awaiting downtime - the time IC is waiting for the Customer to allow testing. The clock will be restarted when IC receive the required response from the customer;
- o No customer access - the time where the Customer is unavailable for a visit. The clock will restart at the next agreed appointment time;
- o No customer contact - the time where the Customer does not respond to IC;
- o Awaiting logon - the time IC is waiting for the Customer to log on for testing;
- o Awaiting additional information - the time IC is waiting for additional information from the Customer;
- o Customer unavailable - when the customer has advised they are unavailable until a specified time;
- o Restricted access - the time where the enhanced care Customer has not allowed full 24/7 access (if the Customer opts for an appointment as 24/7 access is not available then the time between the appointment being confirmed and actual appointment time will be classed as allowable parked time).

IC shall not be liable to the Customer for any losses incurred as a result (either direct or indirect) of any interruption to the Service and the entire amount payable for failures outside of the SLA shall be strictly limited to the amount in this Contract. Where an amount is not listed or an event omitted then it shall be deemed to be a Force Majeure Event and no Service Credit will be due.

Standard Service Level Availability. The following lists the service availability expected and Service Credit guidelines should any service fall below these levels. The Service Credit includes the fees or proportion thereof that is the provision of Ethernet Service only and does not include any other on-going fees for associated services or components.

Service Credit Calculation

Percentage uptime in any billing month:

- 95% and above = zero days credit
- 98% or below = 7 calendar days credit
- 95% or below = 14 calendar days credit
- 90% or below = 28 calendar days credit

These Service Credits are not applicable to breakdowns and faults which are covered in the Performance & Repair Targets section.

Performance & Repair Targets. The following table lists various services and the service levels with the target response and repair times for each. Response time is the time from first report from the Customer of a potential fault to a that report from IC. Following acknowledgement of a fault existing after response time and opening of a case, the repair clock starts and will run until the service is restored and clock stopped. The total time for a fault will be the hours it clock start and clock stop minus any Allowable Parked Time.

Service	Response	Repair	Applicable
Fibre Ethernet Services	3 hours	5 hours	clock hours

Service Credits for Repairs out of SLA

The following table shows the credits that can be claimed where a service has failed to be restored within the above tabled targets.

Applicable Hours over target

Time	< 4hr	4-8hr	8-24hr	24hr
Credit	1 day	7 days	14 days	1 month

The amount of credit is related to the services listed above and the maximum claim in any one month will be limited to the one month charge of the service.

IP Transit Service. IC's provided service is connected to the internet at sufficient speed to deliver the Services contracted by Customers. However dependent on the speed of the areas of the Internet being accessed, this may in some ins speed limiting factor. IC cannot be held liable for unforeseen events that may cause excess traffic demand either on IC's core network, or externally which is outside of its immediate control. The service is delivered on a 'Shared' basis and no guarantees for the quality received via the service, IC will provide a 'Target' service level or performance level but accepts no liability of any kind for failure to meet this level. IC limitation on its liability shall be no more than one month Service rental fee (or proportional price if included within another service) for failure to meet the Service Levels in this Annex.

Disconnected by Mistake. Delivery of Services is a complex process and occasionally there will be errors in either the physical or logical (systems) side of a connection that could lead to the Customer's service being disconnected. IC will disconnection has been as a direct result of IC or its nominated suppliers, undertake to re-connect the Customer swiftly without charge to the Customer (this excludes events where IC may share a supplier in common and the disconnect direct result or another party). This will be treated as an out of SLA event thus starting the Service Credit clause immediately and the Customer shall be entitled to claim the appropriate Service Credit based on the time from disconnection to restoration.

Third Party Service Disruption and Charges. Where services are being changed, installed, upgraded, repaired or work is performed on services then IC are not liable for any disconnections or interruptions in the Customers other services directly supplied or not. Any work conducted will be done so according to accepted business practices and the customer acknowledges that any work of this nature can cause other issues (i.e. installation of a new cable could cause movement of other cables and if they have a weak link they could break). In the event the affected service is not with IC then the Customer will have to contact the current supplier to raise a fault directly.

Missed Appointments. If IC or its nominated suppliers fail to keep an appointment for repair or installation of a Service then the Customer can claim a one off £40 Service Credit, this one-off payment does not apply if there was a Force Majeure Event or the appointment was re-arranged or cancelled before the appointment.

Service Credits how are they paid. All Service Credits will be applied to the Customer account as a credit and will be used to reduce the balance of that account, in the instance where a credit is larger than the current balance the credit will be applied to the account and used against future invoices until depleted.

Annex 3 - IP Transit

1. IP Addresses and Routing

In order to connect to the public internet all connections will require that a public IP Address is supplied. IC is a Local internet Registry and are members of RIPE (<https://www.ripe.net/>) (www.ripe.net) who govern the IP address space in European regions and all allocations will be made in line with its public policies.

a. IPv4 Address Allocations

- Address space is now consumed and no new Provider Independent (PI) allocations will be made for businesses, all space will be from IC's Provider Aggregable (PA) address space or that of its nominated supplier.
- Addresses are provided only while a service is supplied and shall be returned to the IC pool upon service cease;
- Allocations will be made differently on the basis of the services taken and some may be of a dynamic nature whereby addresses are provided from a rotating pool upon each connection to the systems;
- Where static allocations are made the number of addresses assigned will be directly proportionate to the Customers' requirements;
- All requests for space must be for the minimum possible number required and shall not include spare space for growth except where this is to be within 3 months' time;
- Requests are to be made to the IC Helpdesk via email and should be detailed for the justification including what they are for including devices, services and need;
- No space shall be allocated for 'administrative ease' purposes and this is strictly prohibited and all services must show best use of NAT/PAT technologies to minimise addresses requested.

b. IPv6 Address Allocations

- Requests for IPv6 address space should be sent to the IC helpdesk via email and detail the requirements for the space;
 - Upon successful validation of the request in line with the allocation guidance from RIPE (<https://www.ripe.net/>) a suitably sized allocation will be made which shall include spare space for growth for the foreseeable future;
 - All requests for PA space shall be allocated from the IC pool and shall be returned to IC upon service cancellation.
 - Requests for PI space will be passed through to RIPE for approval subject to the Customer obtaining an Autonomous System (AS) number.
- c. There is no charge for IP allocation and IP addresses do not belong to a customer and shall either be returned to IC (PA space) upon service cancellation or to RIPE upon membership cancellation. Fees may however be charged for the administration in processing of requests.
- d. Routing of private address space under RFC1918 or shared space under RFC6598 is strictly prohibited and IC will actively strip any announcements made containing these ranges.
- e. If a Customer has an AS number and wishes to bring their own address space with them (PI) for use via the IC network this must be indicated at the time of order and on the appropriate ordering pages of the IC website.
- f. In rare circumstances it may be necessary to change a Customers IP address allocation where provided from IC's PA space, in this event the Customer will be provided with as much notice as possible and the reason for the change and the reserve the right to change or remove any allocations made at any time.
- g. Customers may request to change an IP allocation at any time providing the request and reasons are valid and space exists from the IC PA space then requests will not be unreasonably withheld but an administration charge may apply.
